Global Macro & Crypto Market Intelligence

Sun, Jul 5 2026

NEUTRAL Markets maintain cautious balance amid macro pressures and Middle East geopolitics.

Global markets are navigating a mixed session under the shadow of Iran's leadership transition and escalating regional geopolitical tensions. The VIX at 16.15 has eased 2.65%, yet still signals controlled uncertainty, while the DXY at 100.86 continues its weakening trend, providing partial support for risk assets. The US 10-Year Treasury Yield at 4.485% is rising, and the 2s10s spread turning positive at 31.5 basis points hints at a limited normalization in economic expectations. On the crypto front, the Fear & Greed Index remains deep in Extreme Fear at 23; BTC trades at $62,919 with a weekly gain of 4.66% while total crypto market cap stands at $2.26 trillion. The key calendar event this week is the FOMC Meeting Minutes on July 8, which could inject volatility as markets parse the Fed's rate path signals. Additionally, the ISM Services PMI due July 6 (forecast: 54.2) will be closely watched for growth momentum.

Three sons of Iran's slain leader Khamenei appear at funeral, not his successor - Reuters

AI Insight: The appearance of Khamenei's sons at the funeral—rather than a clear successor—underscores that Iran's leadership transition remains unresolved, keeping the geopolitical risk premium alive in the Middle East and sustaining upward pressure on safe-haven assets such as gold, which is already up 1.81% on the day to $4,187.

India withdraws gas curbs as Middle East LNG supply resumes - Reuters

AI Insight: India's withdrawal of gas restrictions following the resumption of Middle East LNG supply is a direct de-escalation signal for energy markets; this development alleviates upward pressure on natural gas prices and is consistent with Brent crude's subdued performance around $72.13.
